FROM LAB TO LIFE™

Alexandre (Alex) Kalache, MD, PhD, is a world-renowned expert, advocate and activist who works tirelessly to promote awareness of global ageing issues. During his tenure as Clinical Lecturer at Oxford University, Dr. Kalache was one of the first voices to raise the importance of ageing as a development issue. In 1995, Dr. Kalache moved to Geneva, Switzerland, to direct the Global Ageing Programme at the World Health Organization (WHO). Under his leadership, the WHO launched a series of ground-breaking initiatives that continue to have enormous significance. Two of these are WHO's Active Ageing Policy Framework and the global movement on Age-Friendly Cities. In his current roles as President of the International Longevity Centre in Brazil, Senior Advisor on Global Aging at the New York Academy of Medicine and HelpAge International Global Ambassador on Ageing, Dr. Kalache continues to contribute to a paradigm shift in perspectives on ageing, both in terms of positivity toward longevity and a strengthened focus on the lifecourse approach to ageing and health.
