Elder Research

Please join us for an engaging and interactive lecture by Lisa Meschino. Lisa is a community-engaged visual artist with a PhD in cognitive neuroscience. In addition to her own art practice, she is currently working with the Royal Conservatory of Music, The Bitove Wellness Academy, and the University of Waterloo on several art and research-based projects. Recent projects have focused on how the arts can enrich the lives of seniors with dementia who are living in the community or in long-term care homes.

In this lecture, she will discuss her work and how valuable it can be to work at the intersection of research, art and therapeutic practice, while also demonstrating some of the techniques she uses in the community. Lisa is passionate about her work and we look forward to welcoming her to the Centre - we hope you can join us!
